MosquitoCon 24 Special Edition

THE IRON WORKS

By Bill Schwarz, President

Hi all. Counting down the last few days before the show. This year has been a hectic one! More vendors than ever plus various other things going on in the world we call NJIPMS !! The Executive Board has been working Big Overtime to pull all the strings together that make the show happen. Everybody's ready so onward we march through the pillars of hell which is what I call 7 to 8am on show day. That's when most of us are getting all the major headaches done so we can open by 9am. With the membership on April 4th, I am sure all will be OK and we will indeed be ready to open up earlier than 9am. But we shall see. I just hope the weather stays with us and everything else goes as planned. I'm sure there will be complaints by the same few guys, but all in all I expect this to be a very good show!

Devin tells me we are getting a SOLID 200 HITS a day on the club website, which is some indication that the show will be well attended by a lot of people. All we ask of the membership and I say this every year is that if you make it please be there by 7am to help orchestrate the thing we call MosquitoCon!

This show brings us closer to a milestone as well: the BIG 25 next year! I as well as the other members will be working hard beginning on April 5th to make it the Biggest and Best yet! But please remember one thing! We can't do it without the membership. Every job counts. Big and small, we need it all to produce this show so come on out early Saturday and pitch in!!! It's the one day and the only day we ask you to give back to the club. We are all thankful and will see you bright and early. Bagels and coffee will be provided for breakfast as usual too.

I think that's all I have to say this month about the show. One last thing: as of this writing, there have been a few major changes in the club. I won't tell you all anything before meeting night. Please don't ask me at the show. It doesn't affect the membership, but there are a few things I have to go over with you. It's just that simple. With that said, I am done with my NL Piece. Its Ale and Kraaken and Beach Movie night! Doesn't get any better than that! See you all next Saturday the 4th for SHOOO OOOOOWTIME!!

Regards,
~Big Bill

Apologies to everyone for a short newsletter this month. With the timing of the show and the meeting next Friday the 10th we decided it best to concentrate on show business rather than have everyone write about what's on everyone's mind: MosquitoCon's impending arrival.

The website <http://njipms.org/> and the Facebook page <https://www.facebook.com/pages/New-Jersey-IPMS/> are all updated and ready to go. If anyone has any questions, they should be able to be answered in one of those two locations.

The logos throughout this newsletter are of the sponsors of the raffle and some of the vendors in that will be in the vendor's room. Links are on the website to all of them, so click away and give them some business, and definitely give the vendors your money on Saturday!

Unless something changes, the next meeting is a week from Friday on April 10th, same place, same location; everyone be there for a post-show debrief, some news about the future of the club, and some complimentary beverages.

See everyone Saturday, bright and early!
